

WASHINGTON — Administrators are excited over a private report that Henry Ford is planning another revolution in the motor industry.

The reported idea is this: Instead of selling cars, the Ford company would rent them at a nominal "service" charge of $10, $12, or $15 a month. Included in this fee would be insurance and a certain amount of maintenance. There would be no large down payment such as now required on a purchase.

According to the word reaching Washington, the precedent-smashing motor magnate would also inaugurate an annual wage for his workers, instead of the present daily rate subjected to the ups and downs of the automobile market.

How seriously Ford is considering the innovation is not known. But New Dealers welcome it enthusiastically. They see it as a life-saving shot-in-the-arm to the nation's drooping economy.

They point out that such a plan would create an entirely new motor market by making cars available to millions heretofore unable to buy them. A boom in auto production would mean busy times for steel, rubber, glass and many other allied industries. Also it would enable the elimination of many current unsound business practices in the auto business, such as seasonal employment and yearly new models.

Whitney Crash
Roosevelt's advisers feel that no other recent event has played into his hands more fortuitously than the Whitney crash.

The feeling against Whitney in financial circles is terrific. After all, he was the man who, as head of the Stock Exchange, led the fight against Roosevelt's SEC plans for controlling investment operations. From now on, what chance will Wall Streeters have to claim that Roosevelt is disrupting confidence in business and investments?

Hitler's Strategy
In figuring out what Adolf Hitler will do next, it is wise to look back and see how he charted his course in the past. There was nothing accidental about it.

Hitler's month for action is March. It was in March, 1933, that he became complete dictator of Germany. It was in March, 1935, that he tore up the disarmament sections of the Versailles Treaty and announced plans for a powerful German Army.

Again in March, 1936, he sent German troops goose-stepping into the Rhineland. Finally in March, 1938, he made his triumphal entry into Austria.

In the first two or three of these moves, Hitler was bluffing. He could have been stopped by determined opposition. When German

ROSS KIDNAPER COMPOSED OVER DEATH SENTENCE

Chicago, March 17.—(AP)—"It turned out just as I thought it would."

That was John Henry Seadlund's action today to a federal jury's decision that he pay with his life for the $5,000 ransom kidnapping of Charles S. Ross, 72, Chicago businessman.

Seadlund's comment was echoed by many courtroom observers who heard the kidnaper confess the crime from the witness stand and saw federal prosecutors pile up a mass of evidence.

The jury was asked only to vote on a recommendation that Seadlund be punished by death. The verdict was reached last night after one and one-half hours of deliberation.

Seadlund had pleaded guilty to kidnapping but a jury verdict was a prerequisite to the death penalty.

Unless the verdict is reversed at a new trial, the 27-year-old former Minnesota lumberjack will be electrocuted in the Cook county jail's electric chair. A motion for a new trial will be heard Saturday. Seadlund and James Atwood Gray seized Ross Sept. 25, 1937, and fled to a hideout in the woods near Emily, Minn. Subsequently $50,000 ransom was paid vainly for his release.

After his arrest in Los Angeles January 14, Seadlund took federal agents to the hideout where most of the ransom money was cached. Then he took them to a dugout near Spooner, Wis., where the bodies of Ross and Gray were found.

GET COUNTERFEITERS

Chicago, March 17.—(AP)—Secret service agents announced today the arrest of six Chicago men and seizure of $3,000 in counterfeit $20 bills.

HULL STATES POLICY OF U. S. GOVERNMENT

Armed Protection in World of International Lawlessness

Washington, March 17.—(AP)—Secretary of State Hull, declaring America must hold to its rights in its quest for world peace, laid down today a policy of arming for protection against "international lawlessness."

"It is my considered judgment that, in the present state of world affairs, to do less than is now proposed would lay our country open to unpredictable hazards," he said, referring to the naval expansion program.

Hull treated, in measured phrases, every aspect of the world situation in an address before the National Press Club. His speech went over an international radio hook-up to a world disturbed by the spectre of war in Europe and Asia. "The momentous question," he said, "is whether the doctrine of force shall become enthroned once more and bring in its wake, inexorably, international anarchy and a relapse into barbarism."

Policy of Peace
The cabinet officer, as America's chief foreign minister, expounded a policy of peace, no alliances, collaboration with peaceful nations military preparation, and opposition to the "seclusionist viewpoint."

Speaking a few hours after Soviet Foreign Minister Litvinoff invited world powers other than Germany, Japan and Italy to discuss joint action to stop aggression, Hull indicated clearly that the attitude of this government was one of consultation and collaboration but not of alliances or collective action.

"We should not hesitate," the secretary said, "to exchange information and to confer with the governments of such other nations (interested in peace) and, in dealing with the problems confronting each alike, to proceed along parallel lines—this government relating at all times its independence of judgment and freedom of action."

Isolation Not Security
"We may seek to withdraw from participation in world affairs," he said, "but we can not thereby withdraw from the world itself. Isolation is not a means to security; it is a fruitful source of insecurity."

Hull expressed "our deep concern over the rising tide of lawlessness and the growing disregard of treaties the increasing reversion to the use of force, and the numerous other ominous tendencies which are emerging in the sphere of international relations."

His speech abounded with such sharp phrases as "methods of violence," "another dark night of international anarchy," "rule of force," "violators of international decency," "medieval chaos" and "blind extremism."

He did not refer to any nation by name, but his implication with regard to legal recognition of Austria's absorption by Germany and Japan's expansion in China was clear to his listeners when he said:

Can't Waive Rights
"To waive rights and to permit interests to lapse in the face of their actual or threatened violation—and thereby to abandon obligations—in any important area of the world, can serve only to encourage disregard of law and of the basic principles of international order, and thus contribute to the inevitable."

To Combat Crooks

Lake Forest, Ill., March 17.—(AP)—Sixty-one police chiefs and officials of 28 communities between Chicago and Milwaukee voiced unanimous approval last night of a police teletype-radio system to fight crime along the north shore.

Chief William O. Freeman of the Evanston police department told the meeting the system, if installed, would rival the Michigan state police radio system which has discouraged criminals there.

Widowed 49 years ago, Mrs. Landers was forced to rear, alone, her 12 children. She attributed her longevity to hard work which, besides the care of a large family, included working in the fields until she was past 90. She also aided in the upbringing of her 45 grandchildren.

Mrs. Landers' girlhood was spent in the vicinity of Crum, Ireland, where she married John Landers, who left her and three small children to come to LaSalle county to make a new home. She joined him more than 70 years ago and since his death has lived with a son, William.

She said she had one regret over her advanced age: "I am too feeble to go to church any more."

She is a member of St. Theresa's parish at nearby Earlville.

Celebration

St. Patrick, Mo., March 17.—(AP)—Nestled in the hills of northeast Missouri, the only town in the United States with a postoffice named after Ireland's patron saint, observed St. Patrick's day today as it has for more than 100 years.

St. Patrick's Day always is a lively holiday for the town's population of less than 100. A day off from classes was given students at the parochial school.

It's no holiday, however, for John N. Kirchner, the town's 73-year-old postmaster. For days batches of letters have poured into his little postoffice which occupies six square feet in his general store—from collectors seeking St. Patrick's Day cancellations.

ble spread of international anarchy throughout the world."

The spectacle of Austria under German control and Nazi troops before him as he said:

"The catastrophic developments of recent years, the startling events of the past weeks, offer a tragic demonstration of how quickly the contagious scourge of treaty-breaking and armed violence spreads from one region to another."

Will Protect Citizens
Hull, flanked by officials of the state department, said this government would continue to protect its citizens and interests abroad and would not withdraw in the face of violations of international rights.

The triumph of the "seclusionist viewpoint," he said, "would inescapably carry the whole world back to the conditions of medieval chaos, conditions toward which some parts of both the eastern and the western worlds are already moving."

"Thrown back upon our own resources, we (in the United States) would find it necessary to reorganize our entire social and economic structure. The process of adaption to a more or less self-contained existence would mean less production and at higher costs; lower living standards; regimentation in every phase of life; economic distress to wage earners and farmers, and to their families; and to the dole, on an ever-increasing scale."

For Adequate Force
The secretary came out strongly for an adequate armed force for this country:

"In a world in which the rule of force has not as yet been firmly and surely supplanted by the rule of law, it is the manifest duty of a great nation to maintain armed forces adequate for its national defense."

"No policy would prove more disastrous than for an important nation to fail to arm adequately when international lawlessness is on the rampage."

In the Far East crisis, Hull said the United States has "consistently collaborated with other peace-seeking nations" but "there is not a trace of alliance or involvement of any sort."

No Policing
He disclaimed "the slightest intention to entertain any such notion as the use of American armed forces for 'policing the world.'"

He condemned a series of suggestions designed to keep out of war, such as automatic application of the neutrality law in all circumstances, withdrawal from "any part of the world in which violators of international decency choose to assert themselves," and a popular referendum on war.

"No President and no Congress have ever carried this country into war against the will of the people," Hull said, declaring a war referendum "would hopelessly handicap the government in the conduct of our foreign relations."

He specifically opposed the proposal that the United States retire from the Far East and said:

"It would be absurd and futile for us to proclaim that we stand for international law, for the sanctity of treaty obligations, for non-intervention in internal affairs of other countries, for equality of industrial and commercial rights and opportunities, for limitation and reduction of armaments—but only in one half of the world and among one half of the world's population."

Nine Principles
The secretary reiterated nine of the most important principles of international conduct he stated last year:

Maintenance of peace, abstention

CHAMBERLAIN'S OPPOSITION IS MOUNTING FAST

Recall Of Eden For Positive Foreign Policy Demanded

London, March 17.—(AP)—Informed sources said today that Prime Minister Chamberlain's government was imperilled by a vigorous demand for a change in foreign policy by his secretary for war, Leslie Hore-Belisha.

The war secretary's demand, these sources said, confronted the prime minister with a virtual ultimatum and foreshadowed the possible recall of Earl Baldwin, Chamberlain's predecessor, and his resigned foreign secretary, Anthony Eden, to lead the conservative forces.

Closely following this reported ultimatum came a warning from a committee of influential conservatives that Chamberlain's foreign policy must be changed quickly or they would join the opposition.

Winston Churchill, key member of World War cabinets, and Robert J. G. Boothby, headed the committee.

Hore-Belisha was said to be supported fully by Malcolm MacDonald, secretary for the dominions, and possibly also by Walter Elliot, secretary of state for Scotland, and W. S. Morrison, minister of agriculture.

The war secretary was described as demanding a firm declaration of British support for Czechoslovakia and a more positive policy toward the Spanish civil war.

Faces Difficult Choice
The informants said Chamberlain faced the difficult choice of radically changing his foreign policy to reassert Britain's aged-old support of the balance of power or accepting the resignation of four of his younger cabinet members.

This might have a vital effect on the stability of the government. Meanwhile the foreign office maintained silence on the grave issues troubling Europe, especially since Adolf Hitler absorbed Austria and a break favoring European fascism seemed near in the Spanish conflict.

Germany had a warning from Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary who told the House of Lords that if Adolf Hitler wants to keep peace he must respect his peaceful assurances to Czechoslovakia.

Halifax scorned Germany's annexation of Austria as "ruthless application of power politics" and added:

"By those assurances (that Czechoslovakian frontiers would not be violated), solemnly given, and more than once repeated, we naturally expect the German government to abide, and if indeed they desire to see peace maintained, as I earnestly hope they do, there is no quarter in Europe where it is more vital that undertakings should be scrupulously respected."

Meanwhile the four most famous British politicians outside the cabinet, Eden, Lord Baldwin, Churchill and David Lloyd George, World War prime ministers—were in the south of France, enroute there or preparing to go there.

It was believed they would confer on the situation which may result in the recall of some of them to office.

FATAL EXPLOSION

Chicago, Mar 17.—(AR)—Claude Hammerly, 45, was killed today by the explosion of refrigerating gas he was carrying into an apartment building. The blast broke windows in the basement and wrecked heavy laundry tubs.

Rerouted Lincoln Highway to Avoid This City And Eight Other Places

New Route 71 To Be Given Name On New Highway Maps

Several cities along the original route of the Lincoln Highway are to be shorn of the distinction of being on this historical routing, according to an announcement made at the district offices of the state highway department today, where it was stated that with the publication of the new Illinois motor route maps next month, several cities and towns east of Dixon will lose recognition as being located on the Lincoln Highway and within a very few years, Dixon and Sterling will also be eliminated.

Under present plans, the original Lincoln Highway from Geneva to Dixon will be discontinued with the publication of the new state route maps about April 15. This change will eliminate Geneva, DeKalb, Malta, Creston, Rochelle, Ashton and Franklin Grove this year and with the completion of state route No. 71 Dixon and Sterling will be eliminated. According to present plans, U. S. route 330 will be substituted for the Lincoln highway, which is now known as U. S. route 30.

No. 71 To Be Lincoln Route
The rerouting of the Lincoln Highway will begin at Aurora, traffic being routed over new state highway, route 71, as far west as the junction with U. S. route 52 north of Amboy, thence to Dixon and over the old routing west. With the completion of the route 71 extension, however, it is stated, in all probability Dixon and Sterling would be eliminated from the cross country route, and 71 would become the official Lincoln Highway.

A reduction in mileage and a far more modern and straighter routing on route 71 are reasons for rerouting the Lincoln Highway. However, it was stated, that the highway department is proceeding with plans for the modernization of the present route, which is to be known as U. S. route 330, which at present extends from Chicago to Elburn.

To Improve Old Road
The modernization program of the old Lincoln Highway is well under way in the Dixon district offices and some work may be started during the coming summer. It is expected that the black top section from Burdett's corner, just east of the Dixon Municipal Airport east, to the Emmert school in Nachusa township will be replaced with a 22 foot cement slab during the summer. Engineers are also working on the plans for the new location which will begin at the Breunier corner, one mile east of Franklin Grove, running easterly along the north side of the Northwestern right of way to Rochelle, which will eliminate numerous treacherous curves. The new route will be a 22-foot cement slab with a right of way 100 feet wide and in some sections of greater width. The modernization program also provides for the elimination of some of the dangerous curves west of Dixon in Palmyra township. It is expected that the present cement slab extending east from the Emmert school to the Breunier corner, east of Franklin Grove, will later be widened to a uniform 22-foot width, which will require additional right of way.

The improved paving along state route 71, which is constructed under the federal aid program, eliminating dangerous curves and reducing the mileage from the Mississippi river to Chicago, were cited as causes for rerouting the Lincoln Highway. However, with the modernization of the old route of the national highway, it was expected the cities and towns would not suffer materially from the loss of tourist business. The modernization program for the Lincoln Highway is being conducted to eliminate danger spots and to reduce mileage as well, it was stated.

At present the highway department plans to complete much of the work of grading and constructing of drainage structures along the extension of route 71 during the coming summer. It was expected, however, that the route would not be opened for traffic for about two years, or probably late in 1939.

Asks Pardon Board Commute Sentence

Springfield, Ill., March 17.—(AP)—The state pardon board was asked today to commute the death sentence of J. C. Scott, Chicago Negro who is scheduled to be electrocuted in the Cook county jail April 15 for the murder of Magge Ely during a robbery.

Benjamin Bachrach, Cook county public defender, argued that Scott was below average mentally. Assistant State's Attorney Morris Meyers of Cook county opposed the plea, contending the slaying was "cold-blooded and premeditated."

Hitler May Address World on Spain War

Berlin, March 17.—(AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler, curtailing his triumphant tour of Naziized Austria because of increasing gravity of affairs elsewhere in Europe, may give to the world tomorrow an important announcement on Spain and her long and bitter civil war.

The Fuehrer summoned the Reichstag to meet Friday to hear "a declaration," and the marked emphasis placed on Spanish events by government spokesmen indicated that Spain may be an important subject of that declaration.

No one, as usual, professed to know exactly what Hitler, Europe's man of surprises, had in mind.

But, officials said, there was not in prospect any critical development in the Lithuanian-Polish crisis, at Germany's back door, or elsewhere.

M. but was unable to cross for several hours, pending completion of the planking of the roadway. The formal opening of the structure was not until several days later.

OVER 300 SLAIN IN BARCELONA BY AIR BOMBS

Stricken Loyalist Capital Suffers Great Damage

Barcelona, March 17.—(AP)—Nine insurgent air raids took well over 300 lives last night and today in this metropolitan capital. One bomb shattered windows in the United States embassy.

A bomb fell near the United States embassy in the ninth raid, which came at 1:50 p. m.—the third daylight assault. The building was jarred and windows were blown in.

Col. Stephen O. Puig, military attaché, alone in the building at the time, was shaken but not hurt. Charge D'affaires Walter D. Thurston said new temporary quarters would be taken immediately.

Hospitals were still too busy caring for the wounded to issue an official count of the dead but private sources estimated between 50 and 60 died in the ninth rain of bombs.

Deaths in the previous eight bombardments had been set at 284.

The stricken city was cleaning up the debris, gathering bodies and caring for the wounded of six night-time attacks when the daylight bombardment started.

At 7:45 a. m. (1:45 a. m. CST) came a new rain of death from the skies. Rescue squads rushed out to probe the debris only to be driven to cover at 10:25 when bombs started falling again in the central part of the city.

In this eighth raid, explosives blasted apart homes in a poor residential district. There five or six buildings, six stories high, collapsed.

One bomb made a direct hit on a shoe factory and 12 workers were killed, crushed by heavy wooden beams that tumbled about their heads.

Women wept in the streets as dead and wounded were pulled out of tenement ruins.

The torrents of bombs fell on a city exhausted by a series of raids last night which kept the population in terror for hours.

Each onslaught was brief but the series took the heaviest toll of recent weeks in the frequently-bombed provincial capital and temporary seat of the republican government.

REBELS PUSH ON

Hendaye, France, at the Spanish Frontier, March 17.—(AP)—Spanish insurgents reported today they had driven the last government defenders from Hendaye and had occupied the town in their eastward march toward the Mediterranean.

Dispatches from Burgos, seat of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's government, said Caspe was taken with the aid of reinforcements rushed up from Alcaniz, advance point of the insurgent drive menacing the government-held coast.

Earlier government reports said government forces southeast of Caspe had rallied and smashed through insurgent lines to relieve their beleaguered garrison there.

They said then the insurgents drive had been stopped and Franco's troops had been forced to turn back to smother resistance on their left flank.

The Madrid communique said government forces held the hospital and also the old chateau of the Knights of the Order of Saint John of Jerusalem in the strategic town at the fork of the Ebro and Guadalquivir rivers, 50 miles from the Mediterranean.

The insurgent command sent reinforcements of artillery speeding up the old Roman road from Alcaniz to join the motorized shock troops already dispatched to Caspe.

Insurgent officers at Irun, who said the town had been surrounded for 24 hours, received military dispatches this morning stating simply that troops were endeavoring to "complete" the encirclement.

7-POINT PROGRAM URGED TO REVIVE U. S. RAILROADS

Coordination, Pooling Proposed To Aid Carriers

Washington, March 17 — (AP) — Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, has proposed that Congress make possible "co-ordination and pooling" of railroads as one step toward rehabilitating the carriers.

Sargent made his recommendations at a Senate subcommittee hearing on rail finances.

He proposed in part as an immediate program:

1. Machinery for co-ordinating and pooling, either through the interstate commerce commission or a separate agency.
2. Prohibition of all free transportation.
3. Financing of railroads by a federal agency at rates of interest as low as the government pays.
4. Re-examination by the I. C. of division of joint rates with a view to relieving the most distressed regions.

5. Repeal of requirements for reductions in rates because of land grant provisions.
6. Permit railroads to engage in motor vehicle business without the present restrictions.
7. Re-examination by I. C. of rates paid for privately-owned cars, such as refrigerator and tank cars.

For a long time program, Sargent suggested consolidation of all railroads into a few transcontinental systems.

Sargent also advocated a "permanent and firm" rate making policy; a permanent labor policy which would outlaw strikes and provide a wage-hour board; government financing and federal incorporation of railroads.

Max Lowenthal, chief counsel of the Senate committee, asked if it would not be the first step to government ownership.

"I wouldn't say it was not," Sargent said, "but unless we do something soon government ownership is the only way out."

THE SHOW DIDN'T GO ON Evansville, Ind.—(AP)— Every seat in Judge Marion J. Rice's night court was filled with "fans."

The bailiff called for order and everyone settled back for the show, but—

Judge Rice looked at his desk, conferred with the bailiff and then announced there would be no court session because there was no business on the docket.

TUBERCULOSIS NOT INHERITED

Runs in Families Due To Close Associations Only

Many people have the mistaken idea that tuberculosis is not catching, but is inherited, says the Illinois Tuberculosis Association today. Tuberculosis is caused by a germ called the tubercle bacillus. It cannot be inherited. The reason it seems to run in families is because of the close association among members of the family.

Tuberculosis germs are passed from person to person in many ways. One individual may catch tuberculosis from another by direct contact such as kissing, or by inhaling germs spread about by the uncovered cough or sneeze. Some of the methods whereby the tubercle bacillus is passed around by indirect contact are by children playing where careless persons have spit on the ground or sidewalk, common use of personal things, and common use of eating utensils and linen.

Every case of tuberculosis comes from another case, says the Illinois Tuberculosis Association. It is emphasized that a person may have tuberculosis without being aware of the fact. One method of control advocated is a complete physical examination by a physician every year. The examination should include an X-ray of the chest. Young persons should have a tuberculin test and, if it is positive, an X-ray.

SUBURB GETS THE CREPS

London—(AP)—A "ghost house," complete with practically all the noises except clanking chains, has some of the more superstitious residents of a London suburb alarmed.

Furniture has been over turned and crockery moved from kitchen table to floor, according to reports, to the accompaniment of tapping noises and long drawn-out moans.

Many persons have urged that a priest be called to exorcise the place. But an author who has become interested in the case thinks this should only be tried as a last resort. She suggests the residents of the house try to communicate with the "spirit."

METZ HAMPERED BY INJURIES IN FOUR-BALL MEET

Miami, Fla., March 17—(AP)—Dapper Dick Metz, who teamed with Ky Laffoon to win the $4,000 international four-ball golf tournament, headed for a physician's office today and wondered whether the injuries that have plagued him for almost a year would abate.

Metz and Laffoon trounced Willie Goggin and Ben Hogan yesterday, 6 and 5, to collect $1,000 apiece.

Metz, who carried the load through the final 36-hole grind played despite a physician's warning that continued competition might ruin his golfing career.

For a full year Metz has been trying for a comeback, and he finally made it—with a rib torn loose from its cartilage. Dick was hurt in an accident last spring just as he was reaching his peak, but he came back to win a tournament or two before misfortune struck him again. Early this year, he ripped a cartilage loose.

Trio Charged With Sales Tax Fraud Freed Wednesday

Chicago, March 17—(AP)—After deliberating less than an hour and a half, a criminal court jury last night acquitted three men charged with conspiracy to defraud the state of $34,000 in sales taxes.

The defendants were Edmond F. Lavoie, a former investigator for the state department of finance; William McFadden, former head of a west side motor sales agency, and David K. Springfield, manager of the defunct McFadden firm.

The state charged that McFadden paid Lavoie $4,000 to "fix" the company's sales tax returns. Lavoie and several witnesses testified that the $4,000 payment resulted from the doubling of a $2,000 investment in the motor sales company.

Prosecutor C. Vernon Thompson asked the jury to send Lavoie and McFadden to prison, but sought conviction only on a misdemeanor count for Springfield.

More than 5,000,000 head of livestock was shipped from Texas in 1937.

BOWLING

WEST BROOKLYN SCORES

The close of the eighteenth week of the C. O. F. bowling tournament on last Friday night saw the Fox River Oils still safely in the lead. It becomes more evident to the rest of the teams in the tournament that something must be done very quickly if the Fox River Oils are to be dislodged from their position, as but a few rapidly diminishing weeks remain to be played. The Royal Blues finally broke the prolonged streak of luck that the Contractors have been playing in for the last six weeks by defeating them two of the three game match.

Igoe to Return to His Primary War Tonight at Decatur

Springfield, Ill., March 17—(AP)—U. S. District Attorney Michael Igoe of Chicago, candidate for U. S. Senator, will return to the Democratic primary campaign wars tonight, joining his running mates in a rally at Decatur. Igoe interrupted his campaign several days ago to prosecute the John Henry Seadlund kidnaping trial at Chicago.

The Lucas-Lewis-Smith caravan meanwhile visited Bloomington, where Scott W. Lucas, candidate for U. S. Senator, pledged a continuance of his efforts for a tax on importations of blackstrap molasses.

"During the year 1936, there were 179,123,000 gallons of blackstrap molasses imported duty free, practically all of which went into the manufacture of industrial alcohol," he said. "This was equivalent to 28,660,000 bushels or about 1,189,000 corn acres."

Substituting for Igoe, U. S. District Attorney Howard Doyle of Springfield said at Vandalia that "Igoe has never submitted to boss rule in his entire life and never will." Doyle urged the nomination of the Igoe-Campbell ticket "in the interest of good government."

Bruce Campbell, candidate for state treasurer, who appeared with Doyle, said his ticket had the endorsement of all Democratic leaders

TEXAS MOTHER MURDERS 6 OF HER CHILDREN

Center, Tex., March 17—(AP)—Justice of the Peace Ben Eddins said today Mrs. Lillie May Curtis, 38, killed six of her nine children at their farm home last night by shooting them while they lay asleep.

Authorities said she told them she kissed the children goodby and shot each of them through the heart because she was unable to provide for them.

Eddins returned a verdict in each slaying of "death at the hands of the mother."

Mrs. Curtis was brought to the county jail here. Eddins went 22 miles into the country to conduct a midnight inquest at the Curtis home.

District Attorney Wardlow Lane said he would file murder charges against Mrs. Curtis, who was under a five-year suspended sentence for slaying her husband, Robert Curtis, 44, in 1936.

The slain children were: Marcie Jack, 5, boy; Margie Ree, 7, Robert, 9; Billie Burke, 10, girl; Gloria Jean, 11, and T. O. Curtis, 13.

Eddins said the children were lying dead in their beds in one room when he arrived at the scene. Sheriff J. B. Sample was summoned by one of the older children.

Travis, 16. The mother said he was spared "because he could take care of himself." Sheriff Sample said he found the woman alone in the woods 400 yards from the scene of the slaughter.

Junior Chamber Discusses Dance, Nursery School

The annual post-Easter dance sponsored by the Junior Association of Commerce was announced for Monday, April 8, at the Masonic temple, at a meeting held in the club rooms Wednesday evening.

The members also discussed at length offering aid to the nursery school in this community for its continuance after state aid has been withdrawn. A committee was appointed to further investigate the needs of the nursery school and action will be taken when a report is made.

The chair also heard a list of prospective members which was formulated by those present and these prospects will be approached in the near future.

MEMORIAL TO VETERANS Burnsville, N. C. — (AP) — The names and records of Yancey county's 350 World War veterans are all neatly preserved for posterity in the stitches of a quilt.

A soldier's name is stitched into each square of the quilt. After the name of one who is no longer living is a gold cross and underneath the name a symbol to show where he died.

THE RAZZBERRY --- GREAT AMERICAN INSTITUTION

Word comes from Germany that the Nazis have finally achieved the happy objective of getting that nation's press on a 100 per cent war-time basis. So a couple of parties thrown by American newspaper people take on a significance that probably never occurred to their planners.

In New York, the Inner Circle, a news men's club, put on its annual stunt dinner. The big shots of the big city came in for a well-done roasting accompanied by frequent basting. In Washington the same night the Women's National Press Club took a number of pot shots at governmental bigwigs, male and female, from the President and Mrs. Roosevelt on down.

Such parties are, praise be, neither novel nor unusual in America. They are just part of a good old custom of engaging in a general shirt unstuffing every so often.

American editors give readers the news and grouch or glory as they please in their editorial columns. The people who work for those editors answer to no one but their bosses, and outside the office they deport themselves just about as they please.

Now there is no justice in picking on the Nazis as far as ordinary censorship of the news goes—America is about the only place where people can still read news just exactly as it happened. But the German government, by operating its press as in war-time, leaves itself wide open as the best (or worst) example of suppression.

Some of the recent "news" to which the German people have been treated, included these pronouncements:

Everything is palsy-walsy between the old-line army chiefs and Herr Hitler, the military shakeup coming merely as the result of an epidemic of bad health among the deposed chiefs.

Sympathetic Britishers ousted Anthony Eden as foreign secretary because he led a Popular Front agitation for war on Germany and Italy.

The Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia are the object of a vigorous pogrom and must be rescued by the Fatherland.

The German-Italian-Japanese friendship is the hope of civilization.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler has the respect and admiration of all right-thinking people.

But the payoff came when Alfred Ingemar Berndt, assistant press chief of the Reich, announced that it was an insult to the German government for a citizen to doubt what he reads in the papers. So if it gets about that some jolly old Herr Schmaltz chuckled over an account of the historical greatness of the Fuehrer, then the Gestapo—the secret police—will visit Herr Schmaltz and make things very uncomfortable for him indeed.

In light of these facts, you might, the next time you haven't anything more aimless to do, try to imagine the reporters and copywriters on Der Angriff, official Nazi organ throwing a big party at which they panned Herr Hitler and his cohorts quite somewhat—and in the presence of The Great Man himself!

BROADENING TAX BASE

Senator LaFollette has served notice on the senate finance committee that he will propose a broadening of the income tax base.

Broadening the income tax base is a high-sounding term for soaking the ordinary taxpayer where he can see it.

In simple language, he would give the head of a family an exemption of only $1500 instead of $2500, and he would give a single person an exemption of only $800 instead of $1000.

We do not understand Mr. LaFollette in his insistence upon soaking the ordinary taxpayer where he can see it. He belongs to the school of thought that is inclined to hide the tax so the little voter, of whom there are millions, will think he is escaping income taxes and that the rich are being soaked to carry him along.

We give the Wisconsin senator credit for an unusual approach to a problem that is increasing in the sum of several billions of dollars annually, the debt problem. The ordinary citizen pays just as certainly when it comes in income tax packages as when it comes in grocery packages. Down in Washington they have been successful in covering up the federal tax in a large degree, and the ordinary voter is left to curse the state taxes, which are in the open.

When Senator LaFollette proposes to "broaden the base," he only broadens the base of the income tax, which is a manner of collection. The same person will pay the taxes, regardless of whether collection is by broadening the base, by collection of customs duties, or by collection of excise taxes on cosmetics, automobiles and dozens of other items where the federal government hides the tax from the consumer by collecting it from the manufacturer, who passes it down to the consumer.

Either the New Dealers will get the country into such a shape that the government will repudiate the public debt as it repudiated the terms of Liberty bonds, or the people will have to pay it. The sooner they begin paying it, the better it will be for the country.

CHAIRMAN MORGAN'S CHARGE

It is not a charge by a newspaper that the United States senate is asked to investigate in relation to the Tennessee Valley authority. It is not a charge by some Republican. It is not a charge by Senator Glass, original Democratic foe of the New Deal. It is not by a disappointed officeholder. It is not by some doubting Democrat acting only on hearsay or suspicion.

The charge is by Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, chairman of the Tennessee Valley authority.

He said the Berry case, in which Senator Berry sought to have the authority allow him 3 millions of dollars for overflowed land "represents the kind of difficulty with which, as chairman of the TVA board, I have been faced in the effort to maintain good standards of public service in the face of a coalition of two members of the board which has placed me in the position of a minority member. . . . To a steadily increasing degree, I have contended with an attitude of conspiracy, secretiveness and bureaucratic manipulation, which has made the proper and effective conduct of TVA business increasingly difficult."

In the face of these charges, also George Norris has been fighting valiantly to keep the senate commerce committee from going into the mess to see what part of the Morgan charges, if any, are unfounded.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

troops entered the Rhineland, for instance, Hitler's intimates tell how he had to have a hypodermic to steady his nerves. Also, it is now established that German commanders carried a second set of orders when they entered the Rhineland — to retreat if the French army mobilized.

All that eventful day the French Cabinet sat with the General Staff in Paris trying to decide whether to block Germany. Finally it decided in the negative.

Today, Hitler no longer is bluffing. Today he has built up his bluffs so he gets what he wants. What he wants next is Czechoslovakia.

How soon he will move to get Czechoslovakia depends largely upon the element of time; how soon he can digest and stabilize Austria, make it part of the German administrative system; how soon British rearmament speeds up to a point where the balance of military strength may not be in Germany's favor.

When that time comes, be prepared for war.

Crisis in July

Just as March is Hitler's month for political moves, so July is Europe's month for wars and crises. It was in July, 1934, that the Nazis assassinated Chancellor Dollfus, almost bringing war to Central Europe.

It was in July, 1935, that war started between Abyssinia and Italy. In July, 1936, civil war was started in Spain, while in July, 1937, the Japanese began to bombard Shanghai.

The World War started in July, 1914. What will happen in July, 1938?

Bankhead Brothers

Henry M. Bankhead is the brother of Senator John Bankhead and Speaker William Bankhead, all of Alabama. He has a job in the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

On September 1, 1937, his pay was raised from $7,000 to $7,500 a year. Exactly four weeks later he was promoted to a higher rating and his pay again boosted to $8,000.

Political drag is sweet taffy—if you can get it.

Senator Burt Wheeler's caustic digs at the new crop control are being hotly resented by his colleagues on the Agricultural committee. They point out that he never attended a single session of the committee while it was working on the legislation. . . . YOUNG SLAYER CAN'T EXPLAIN VIOLENT ACT

Rockford, Ill., March 16—(AP)—Testifying in his own defense, Debra Wayne Montgomery, 16, told a circuit court jury yesterday he was at loss to explain why he was a party to the slaying of Martin Pearson, 82-year-old recluse, last Dec. 27. "I don't know why I did it," the youth sobbed from the witness stand.

His companion, Gordon Malm, 19, Pearson's grandson, pleaded guilty to a murder charge some time ago and is awaiting sentence.

"Gordon knocked the old man's hat off with the handle of a hammer," Montgomery said. "The old man made a jump toward a window, but Gordon pushed him into a chair. At Gordon's request I got a rope from the kitchen of Pearson's home and gave him my handkerchief."

The youth testified he helped bind Pearson and push him under a bed. After they left, he said, Malm handed him half of the $40 he had taken from the victim.

Montgomery denied the assault had been planned and testified he was under the impression Malm intended to borrow the money from Pearson.

The defendant's parents and five character witnesses also testified during the day.

Brain Twizzlers

By

PROF. J. D. FLINT

During a running battle with river pirates far up a Chinese river, an American missionary and several companions were hard-pressed to save their lives. The pirates had firearms and were making it very hot because a wide gap in the framework at the back of the boat allowed many bullets to come through. In desperation one of the men measured the gap and found it to be 12 feet long and two feet wide. The only available material to work with was a board three feet wide and eight feet long. This presented quite a problem but after careful consideration the man who had made the measurements and who had experience as a carpenter figured out a way to cut the board and rearrange it to cover the gap. This was done. With this barrier better shooting could be done so the pirates were soon discouraged in their chase and the men escaped.

DEMO MAJORITY DEPENDS ON 24 STATE DISTRICTS

Eighteen Are Located in the Downstate Territory

Springfield, Ill., March 17—(AP)—Whether the next Illinois House of Representatives has another Democratic majority will depend upon November contests limited to two dozen districts, 18 being in downstate territory.

Only 25 House seats are involved in the inter-party struggle for control, since the Democrats are certain to elect 63 representatives and the Republicans 65, assuming that third party and independent candidacies again are futile. The majority in the House is 77, with the Democrats getting 86 in 1936.

"The keenest anguish known to human nature is the pain of a new idea," (Bagehot). We hope this column brings you pain.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Professor Ellsworth Huntington of Yale recently discussed this whole question of heredity in marriage. As he points out, marriage is not altogether one's own business. The children that may be born are the business of the entire community. Minor inheritable defects such as hare lip, defective fingers or feet, are not very serious, but marked nervous or mental deficiency of any kind, such as tendencies to insanity, extreme drinking, general nervous unbalance and, above all, feeble-mindedness, are grave bars to marriages. While even experts cannot always predict heredity with certainty, yet their counsel should be sought where there is suspicion that grave defects may be inherited by the children.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Thoroughly sound psychology because at least ninety persons out of every one hundred can be completely trusted. After all, crooks, hypocrites, and bluffers are comparatively rare, and even these trust each other.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. No. Laws are never invented. They grow out of the habits and needs of a people. Any law enacted in advance, of public opinion and social habit is bound to fail. It is not a law but a decree and we have had some pretty bad experiences in this country with decrees put through by a minority in advance of social sanctions.

Unusual Art Talk To Be Given Soon At Sterling School

Dr. Carlton Palmer will present his very unusual lecture which he calls "The Joy of Pictures" on March 22nd at 3 P. M., in the Sterling township high school gymnasium. Dr. Palmer will illustrate his talk with an exhibit of original works of art collected from various countries all over the world. Included among them, are some of the finest examples of the paintings of such artists as Frederick Vaughn, Chauncey F. Ryder, Howard Chandler Christy, Charles P. Gruppe, Lawrence Biddle, Ivan F. Choultse, Ballard Williams, Hugo Ungewitter, and M. Foscarini.

Dr. Palmer has lived in thirty different countries, studied in American and foreign universities, was with the Polish army in the Russian campaign of 1920, crossed the Arabian Desert with a native camel caravan in 1924, coached athletics in two universities, studied music in Germany, was with Dr. Nansen, the famous Arctic explorer, in the Russian famine in the winter of 1922, and from 1928 to 1933 was a professor in the college of education at the University of Alabama.

Dr. Palmer learned to love paintings as a boy through his mother's collection of beautiful paintings. He received, through her, such inspiration and love of beauty that he has collected pictures all over the world for the last twenty years. He is a delightful speaker and one of the most infectiously enthusiastic people about his subject whom you have ever met.

"The Joy of Pictures" or "The Human Side of Art" is one of the most unique events on the American platform today. Dr. Palmer shares his intimate love of pictures and his beautiful gallery of notable paintings with his audience. Thrilling stories of his adventures in collecting many of his paintings, about the artists who have painted them, and the characteristics of the paintings themselves, have delighted his audiences throughout the United States.

Dr. Palmer is not himself an artist, so he presents that layman's point of view which is so important if art is to become something of interest to all of us.

Frederick Ballard Williams, N. A., and national chairman of the American Artists' Professional league, has said: "American artists have felt keenly during the turmoil of recent years that the artist and the public have lost contact. The splendid work that Dr. Palmer has been doing, they believe, definitely aims toward recreating that contact. He has presented a high standard of work by American artists and with sympathetic interpretation conveyed to his audiences the artist's varied intention and accomplishment. He has aroused a real awakening of appreciation to things of beauty, and I believe that he is contributing a significant influence toward a finer type of national life."

In other words, Dr. Palmer is acting as the interpreter of the artist to the layman, unlocking the treasures of the art world, and introducing us to an appreciation of these beauties which makes it possible for all of us to enjoy art without in any way being specialists along that line. We need a Renaissance of Beauty and here is one of the most outstanding contributions to that end.

The lecture is open to the public.

W. H. M. S. Meets At Whitson Home

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist church held its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of its president, Mrs. W. E. Whitson. The meeting was opened by all singing, "I Love to Tell the Story." Mrs. Crawford Thomas presided at the piano. Mrs. G. P. Powell conducted the devotional period in a very impressive manner, closing with a beautiful prayer which was followed by all joining in the Lord's Prayer. Following the transaction of the business of the society Mrs. Clara Shaw presented the Study Chapter in a very interesting manner. The program of the afternoon was in keeping with the Lenten season. Those participating in the program were Mrs. Powell, Mrs. Crawford Thomas, Mrs. Myrtle George, Mrs. Arthur Sheffield and Mrs. Philip Hopkins. While receiving the Lenten offering all joined in singing "Jesus Calls Us." The meeting was closed with a prayer by Miss Flora Seals. Thirty-nine ladies were present and all were enthusiastic in their praise of their gracious hostess and her beautiful new home. The society will meet in April with Miss Minet Wagner.

A painting in oil, "Monday in Galena," by Mrs. Agnes Howell Ferguson, aroused much interest at the opening of the Phidian Art club exhibit at the high school gallery today. Better, Fewer Laws Urges Speaker At D. A. R. Conference Chicago, March 17—(AP)—Better and fewer laws—and these obeyed and sustained by public opinion—were described today by Mrs. William A. Becker, president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, as "the needs of the hour" in America.

In an address prepared for delivery at the Illinois state D. A. R. conference, Mrs. Becker said of crime, especially juvenile crime:

"We have recognized that the problem of crime is, above all, one of lazy, irresponsible parents. As such, it is the problem of the home."

This, she said, is a challenge to women as home-builders.

"Sterling qualities of character, such as capacity for hard work, thrift, ingenuity and trained hands willing to serve, are in demand as never before if our civilization is to endure," she said.

Thus, she brought out, the preservation of American democracy rests largely with American women. She urged:

"Let us see that our efforts to preserve our nation demand earnest training of our youth and a return to the God of our fathers."

Mrs. F. A. Sapp of Ottawa, Mrs. John Renchin Fornoff of Streator, and Mrs. Clyde A. Hornbuckle of Cairo, have announced their candidacies for state vice regent, state treasurer and state corresponding secretary, respectively. The election will be held Friday.

Agitation For New Anti-Ransom Law Is Revived

Chicago, March 17—(AP)—Divergent views were expressed yesterday after State Representative Robert M. Woodward, of Chicago, announced he would advocate passage of an anti-ransom law at the next session of the legislature, in January, 1939, designed to take the profit out of kidnaping.

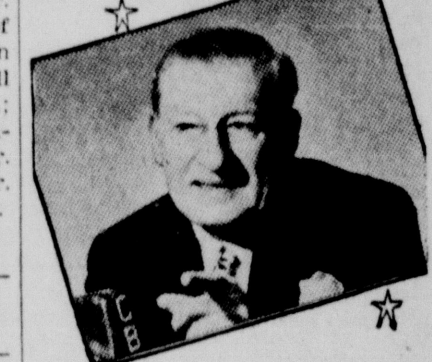

He introduced such a measure last year, but it was never brought to a vote.

"I intend to reintroduce the bill making it a felony punishable by a sentence of one to five years in the penitentiary, to pay ransom to kidnapers," Rep. Woodward said. "If kidnapers cannot profit, this vicious crime will cease."

But Rep. J. Schnackenberg, minority leader in the Illinois lower House, said he did "not believe such a law would help one particle."

First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert Crowley held that such legislation would have to be national in scope before it could be effective.

Rochelle News

By Arthur T. Guest

According to advance notices, Rochelle post No. 403, American Legion, will have at its 13th district meeting to be held in the American Legion club rooms, Sunday afternoon, March 20, the largest number of Department officials that has ever attended a 13th district meeting. Department Commander Applquist of Aurora will be present, as well as Senior Vice Commander Clamagne, Department Adjutant William Mundt, Division Commander Mesner, and several others.

District Commander Oscar Berga of Amboy says: "I'm not sure why so many of our department officers will be with us unless it is in recognition of the fine record the posts and our district is making in membership. As a district we have 96 per cent of our quota, which means we need only 72 new cards to reach our 1900. But that number must be reached by March 17, so don't let down now, and if you are short of 100 per cent, better put on a heavy week's drive. If each post goes over that will put our district over. "I am very anxious to see a large attendance at Rochelle, to show our department officers we're glad to have them with us. Our meeting is open to the public so bring the wives. We will open promptly at 1:30 p. m., even if we have only one man present. And too, commander, insist on your service officer attending as there will be a service school conducted by Service Officer Benston and District Service Officer Hocking.

And don't forget the date of the Good Will Caravan led by Commander Applquist—they make but two stops in the 13th district. Freeport at noon Saturday, March 26, and Dixon at 8 p. m., Saturday, March 26.

If your post has any resolutions to present, please mail these to me at once by return mail. Also bring all cards that you may get between the 17th and 20th, to Rochelle so we will be able to make a good showing there.

"Will be seeing you and a good bunch from your post next Sunday. We will have a report from all district officers at our district meeting, so you officers be sure to be present."

was arrested by Police officer Willard Burright and made a full confession to State's Attorney S. D. Crowell and officers Burright and Westendorf.

Methodist Church
Next Sunday, March 20, has been set aside by our church as Old Member and Friend day. Our church has many elderly members and friends who in recent years have been unable to attend services. However, on special occasions with special effort, and perhaps by the aid of a kindly neighbor who offered the use of their car, many have been able to enjoy an occasional worship service. We want this to be especially possible next Sunday. The inspiration of again worshipping with old members and friends should be worth every effort to attend. Besides the folks who can attend regularly are looking forward to this day when they can once again have these old members and friends in their midst. May God be the strength needed to help these folks in their special effort.

ANTI-CRIME CLUB MEETS
Arundel, Eng.—(AP)—The 50 members of the 150-year-old Arundel society for prosecuting felons, thieves, miscreants and other criminals held their annual meeting recently. The secretary got up and announced that no criminals had been caught, no rewards paid—usual.

It's been like that for the past 20 years but even though they all know in advance what the report will be they still like to hang together.

The society, Britain's only private police force, was not always so dormant. When it was organized in the 18th century it got many a real workout from the highwaymen and cattle rustlers who over-ran the country.

DIXON FANS AT STERLING BOXING SHOW

C. Y. O. Boxers From Chicago Met Local Talent

Several Dixonites motored to Sterling last evening to see the C. Y. O. boxers of Chicago match their skill against some of the best talent of this section in the ring at the Coliseum, where the Gyro Club of Sterling, sponsored the fine program. An outstanding personality in Chicago boxing circles presided as third man in the ring throughout the evening, being none other than Referee Phil Collins.

The C. Y. O. boxers were quite successful throughout the evening with but one exception. Stanley Marcek, blocky and hard hitting C. Y. O. middle weight, was unable to place Elwood McReynolds in one position long enough to land a telling blow, and while swinging wildly in an attempt to wear down his opponent, Marcek stopped several stinging blows to the face. It was McReynolds' fight by a decisive margin, and was the only contest of the evening in which the C. Y. O. boxers participated, which went to the opponent.

Dick Scholl of Galesburg scored a technical knockout over Pete Voskis of East Moline in the second round of the first bout in the 126 pound class.

Mickey Eberhardt of Sterling obtained a judge's decision over Chris Berges of East Moline in the 160 pound division.

Thomas Scores Kayo
Tom Morris opened up his bout with Heiner Thomas, hard punching Chicago Negro in the 175 pound weight, and sent several stinging lefts to his opponent's face in the opening round of their argument, then suffered a relapse in the second. Thomas scored a technical knock out as the second round neared its close.

Tony Matosi of Chicago was too seasoned a veteran for Pete Hantz of East Moline and easily won the 147 pound number.

Sammy Stinson of Galesburg, a favorite with the Sterling fans, was granted a very unpopular decision by the judges in his bout against William Build of the C. Y. O. in the 112 pound class. The Chicagoan forced Stinson to extend himself throughout the three rounds and appeared to have had by far the best of the going until the judge's decision was announced when the fans loudly voiced their disapproval.

Eddie Foy of Chicago in the light heavyweight division, was forced to extend himself in the final bout of the evening to win a decision over William Duncan of Elgin, who appeared on the card replacing Linto Guerrie of Sterling, who is with the Chicago Golden Glove team in New York City.

IN SPRING TRAINING CAMPS

Activities of Major League Teams in the South and West Prior to Opening of Baseball Season

By The Associated Press
Lakeland, Fla.—To hear Manager Mickey Cochrane tell it, his Detroit Tigers really are going to look like something when they are decked out in their 1938 uniforms. Mickey has recommended suits of tropical worsted, featuring orange, black and white.

New Orleans, La.—Pre-training season discussion said the toughest fight in the Cleveland Indians' camp would be for second base, but the tussle hasn't materialized, because Johnny Kroner won't let it. Johnny has been so brilliant at the keystone sack every day that he has the job sewed up.

Tampa, Fla.—Will McKechnie is feeling a little better these days about his Cincinnati Reds' prospects. His change of heart was caused largely by the neat work of outfielders Dusty Cooke and Lee Gamble, first baseman Frank McCormick and infielder Linus Frey.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Mickey Owen still was hollering in the St. Louis Cardinals' camp today that he came off on top in his fist-tossing party with Mel Almada in yesterday's exhibition game with the Senators. In fact, with the Cards taking a 15-13 beating, Mickey was the only Card winner.

Avalon, Calif.—Jolly Cholly Grimm rounded up his Chicago Cub forces today to head them back to the mainland from Catalina Island. With the first stage of their training completed, the Cubs lock up their island base and begin the Grapefruit campaigning against the White Sox in California.

San Antonio, Tex.—A wire to Vice-President William De Witt advised the Cardinals.

NATIONAL AAU CAGE TOURNEY TRUE TO FORM

Denver, March 17—(AP)—It's the same old dress with a 1938 trimming as the national AAU basketball tournament enters the quarterfinal round tonight.

Six Missouri Valley AAU league teams are among the seven surviving seeded quintets. One trimming will be missing—the eighth seeded team taking a defeat last night.

The league teams are the champion Denver Safeways, the Bartlesville, Okla., Phillips, Kansas City, Kan., Healeys, Wichita, Kan., Gridleys, Oklahoma City Parks and Colorado Springs Antler. Completing the list are the seeded Hollywood Athletic club and the unseeded Warrensburg, Mo., Teachers.

Two of the games match league teams, and on their season's records the Phillips rate as favorites over the Antlers, and the Gridleys over Parks.

The Safeways face a stern battle with the rough and ready Hollywood team, and the Healeys must play basketball to defeat the Warrensburg youngsters, who turned in one of the slickest performances of the tournament last night.

Warrensburg boosted the seeded Montana State team out of the tournament by a score of 46 to 25.

vised the St. Louis Browns that their clouting third-sacker, Harland Clift, was on the way to the camp and "rarin' to go." Clift came to terms last night.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—The short-stop situation is still the big hospital problem at the Yankees' training camp. First Frankie Crosetti was hurt, then Billy Knickerbocker came up with an injury, and now Knickerbocker has developed a mild case of "flu."

Bradenton, Fla.—A couple of rookies, Emerson Dickman and Jim Bagby, Jr., got the call to do the pitching for the Boston Red Sox in the team's first exhibition game today against the Bees. Casey Stengel probably will rely on Jim Turner.

Baton Rouge, La.—Lou Chiozza, a batting "flop" last year, is doing big things at the plate in the Giants' camp this spring in the hope of landing a regular job.

Pasadena, Calif.—Marv Owen's sore arm is going to allow him to start at third base for the Chicago White Sox against the Cubs tomorrow. There had been some doubt about Owen's ability to get into the game.

Orlando, Fla.—Bucky Harris is going to give a couple of his Washington rookies a chance to show their stuff against Minneapolis today. Ken Chase and Joe Krakauskas get the nod.

Lake Charles, La.—Harry Kelley, first of the Athletics' pitchers to last a full game, wound up fresh and cool with a 4 to 3 victory yesterday to give Connie Mack something to smile for about the first time this season.

Lafayette, La.—The Phillies arrived today with a record of four defeats in five games to play the Jersey City Giants in the first of two contests. In their two games with the Cleveland Indians the Phillies broke even. Hugh Mulcahy's bad inning beat them yesterday.

San Bernardino, Calif.—Russ Bauers, Jim Tobin and Cy Blanton will be the Pittsburgh Pirates' pitchers when the Bucs encounter Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast league in their first exhibition game, Friday.

TEMPLE WINNER OF INVITATIONAL CAGE TOURNAMENT

New York, March 17—(AP)—Temple's towering basketball Owls went back to Philadelphia today, carrying with them the championship trophy of the national collegiate invitation tournament and the expert opinion that they were just about as classy a court combination as could be found anywhere this season.

They wallowed Whizzer White and Company from Colorado, 60-36, last night to round out a season that saw them invincible against representative intercollegiate rivals and all-powerful in the Eastern Intercollegiate conference.

The Colorado conquest, in which the Owls trampled the co-champions of the Rocky Mountain's big seven group from start to finish, made it three straight triumphs in the invitation tournament. Starting with their win over Bradley Tech's little "giant killers" from Illinois a week ago, there was never any doubt that Temple would wind up on top.

CARAS CHARGED WITH STIFF JOB HALTING PONZI

New York, March 17—(AP)—Jimmy Caras takes up the well-nigh impossible task of halting Andrew Ponzi's march toward the world pocket billiards championship tonight.

Ponzi has bowled over challenger after challenger, running up a string of nine victories to lead the tournament. Caras, of Wilmington, Del., is third with seven victories and two losses, the second suffered last night at the hands of Irving Crane of Livonia, N. Y.

Ponzi followed Caras to the table and won his ninth straight victory, over Marcel Camp of Albany N. Y. The Philadelphia won as he pleased, 125 to 79, in nine innings.

Crane whipped Caras, like Ponzi an ex-champion, 125 to 110, in 15 innings. Before the match Caras was tied with Willie Mosconi of Philadelphia for second place behind Ponzi. Mosconi trimmed Joe Procieta of Gloversville, N. Y., 125 to 31, in 15 innings, last night.

Crane meets Joe Diehl, Rockford, Ill., today.

Onofrio Lauri of Brooklyn, ended his tournament play with five wins and six losses by beating Charles Seaback of Lawrence, Mass., 125 to 29, in 16 innings.

Centralia DeMolay Champions Defend Two-Year Laurels

Centralia, Ill., March 17—(AP)—The state DeMolay basketball championship, held for two years by Centralia, will be sought by 11 teams in the annual tournament which will open here tonight and continue through Saturday night.

Granite City's quintet has beaten Centralia twice this season. Several other teams were rated highly.

Tonight's schedule: Belleville vs. East St. Louis, Centralia vs. Jackson, Harrisburg vs. Granite City.

Friday night: Springfield vs. Danville, Belleville-East St. Louis vs. Centralia-Jacksonville winners, Moline vs. Harrisburg-Granite City winner, and Mount Carmel vs. Decatur.

Semi-finals will be played Saturday afternoon, with finals Saturday night.

Win For Milton Means Holiday For Villagers

Milton, Ill., March 16—(AP)—If Milton's basketball team wins its opening game in the state high school basketball tournament at Champaign tonight, tomorrow will be a holiday here.

M. B. Hoover, cashier of the Farmers' State Bank, and father of Phil and Bill Hoover, two of the team's stars, said the bank and other business houses would suspend business if Milton wins.

But today might as well have been a holiday. Most of this Pike county community's 332 inhabitants left for Champaign to see the game with Harrisburg.

Sportsmen To Talk Commission Plan At Peoria Conference

A meeting of the Associated Conservation organization of Illinois is to be held at the Pere Marquette hotel in Peoria Saturday, and officers have invited representatives from Dixon and Lee county to attend the gathering. The purpose of the organization is to perfect a non-partisan commission plan for Illinois, and an effort is being made to interest individuals or organizations interested in conservation of wild life from the northwest section of the state.

Joseph A. Duner of Wheaton, will report developments in conservation at the wild life conference held in Baltimore, Md., in February. There will also be discussions of the work of individual members during the National Wildlife Restoration week to be observed March 20 through 26. The organization hopes to be able to obtain a six member commission, appointed by the governor, to administer the work of conservation in Illinois, through the commission's selection of a director of conservation. At a meeting held in Champaign early in February, by-laws were adopted and the organization was perfected. Several sportsmen's organizations throughout the state have become affiliated with the new association with a view of conserving and propagating the wild life in Illinois, and at the meeting Saturday it is expected that Dixon and Lee county will be represented, since a movement was started here several weeks ago, to restock Rock river and other streams in Lee county.

Probably the highlight of the day was reserved for the final game in which Dundee, winner of 30 straight contests, encountered Pekin, winner of 24 in a row.

Only entries this year which twice before have won championships are Rockford and Decatur. No team ever has won the title three times.

in Jordan township, Whiteside county, Sept. 27, 1855 and passed away at the Katherine Shaw after a few days illness at the age of 82 years, 5 months and 13 days.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs.

He grew to manhood in Jordan

riage with Miss Sophia Leitz in 1876. To this union were born eight children, sixteen grandchildren and six great-grandchildren, all of whom still survive except his wife who passed away 25 years ago last October, and two sons and one daughter who preceded him in death.

he has been a resident of this city.

The Boxwood Barrier

By BLANCHE SMITH FERGUSON

The Story So Far:

Red-headed Cissy Rogers, in love with Reuben Oliver, swoops down in her plane to find out what or who is keeping him buried in the heart of Maryland's hunting district. Both Reuben and Cissy's father have made a fortune in oil, but Reuben has dropped out of the race. A girl is keeping him there—aristocratic Judith Goodloe, who doesn't even recognize his existence.

Chapter Three

The Sacred Boundary

Cissy said in a burst of impatience, "They're taking something from you, Reuben—and this country —you don't belong here! It's beautiful, but it's finished. You're new.
Raw. You thrive on struggle. Come back where people have red blood and are proud of it!" She stalked before him into the house. "Which is my room?"

Reuben told her and watched her ascending the stairs on quick impatient feet. Trust Cissy to put her finger on the weak spot.

Undoubtedly he knew now, what he had been fighting hard to ignore. Judith Goodloe was keeping him in this sheltered valley, making him contented here — happy even, with that part of him which, even as a small boy, wanted beauty and softness, while the other—the fighting Reuben—longed for leaping streams, the crackling of ice in the spring was music to this Reuben, so was the mighty roar of thawing rivers with loosening logs, surging down. He liked to ride the flood with them—adventure and death swirling along hand in hand.
A hard game with high stakes and only one could win!

Sometimes in the dead of these still, peaceful nights, filled with the scent of roses and ripening wheat, his heart reached out to the wild like a caged timberwolf.
Tomorrow he would go back!

But if tomorrow brought the sight of a girl with an imperious dark head, riding a spirited chestnut mare — and smiling at the world from blue, blue eyes, the thirst for adventure dwindled. A dreamy, languorous contentment claimed him. He had seen Judith.
He marked that day with a white stone.

Unconsciously he sighed. White stones were very little for a man — a vigorous man and young — to collect from life. He yearned for something more tangible. The touch of a hand. The faith of a heart. The absolute, undivided faith. There was deeply ingrained in him a doglike loyalty. A need for someone worthy of that loyalty.

Gran's Corner

Amanda Goodloe came through the wide doorway under its delicate façade. At the threshold, his wisened face wreathed in smiles, she was met by an old negro carrying a footstool and bowing profoundly.

"A fine day, Amos."

"Yes ma'am, Miss Mandy," mighty fine."

"Only the sixth of May, and warm as July. We'll have tea in the garden."

"Yes'm."

Four fifty-five to the minute marked the beginning of the tea hour at Goodloe's Choice. In pleasant weather it was always served out of doors, usually in Amanda's favorite corner where the box grew thickest and blended its spicy fragrance with the aroma of Oolong and mint.

Sometimes the young people clamored to have the table close to the swimming pool, the tennis courts, or down on the lowest terrace which gave upon the meadow where hurdles for trying new hunters had been placed, usually though, it was "Gran's own corner," that everyone assembled during the long summer afternoons to fritter away a golden hour.

Amanda took her leisurely way there—a slender, erect, white-haired figure. She crossed the columned portico and formal stone terrace, walked, between box, down five steps to clipped green sward, past century-old rose arbors, a lily pond, and turned into a narrow walk, where wild violets pointed the way to her peacock chair under the oak.

About to seat herself, Mrs. Goodloe straightened and stood at attention. Her keen old ears had caught a sound more heavenly than the chanting of celestial choirs — the sound of galloping horsehoofs. The light staccato footfall of the thoroughbred, as different from the more plebeian cousin as day is from night.

"The children are coming! Hear Amos?"

"Yes, Miss Mandy."

"Be sure there are enough sandwiches. The children will be hungry."

"Ain't it the truth?" Amos smiled broadly. "It do beat all how they can eat."

"Miss Judith likes strawberry jam—and there will be guests."

Woe To The Climber
There were always guests. The Goodloes never "gave a tea," but concocted fire from the opposition.

The prime minister refused to make a definite statement of Britain's position regarding possible German aggression against Czechoslovakia.

REPLICA OF RALEIGH FLEET TO DOCK AT ISLAND STAGE

Manteo, N. C.—(AP)—Real ships will sail upon a seaside stage during the second season performance of Paul Green's "Lost Colony" beginning July 3.

A huge four-level open air stage upon which the patriotic drama is enacted, is being remodelled to permit a replica of Sir Walter Raleigh's flotilla to dock at the stage and dis-embark the first English settlers upon Roanoke Island in a realistic manner.

The pageant, to be presented as part of the 350th Anniversary Virginia Dare celebration, has been described by one critic as the "patriotic Oberammergau of America."

Green wrote the play as a patriotic contribution to his state and has refused to allow it to go to Broadway or Hollywood, insisting it is solely for Roanoke Island, where the events it recreates took place.

if one was lucky enough to be inside the boxwood hedge, which grew three rows thick in places, one received a fragrant pink lustre cup from Amanda's hand.

Having tea at Goodloe's Choice was like being presented at a private drawingroom—something to boast about casually. It placed one very definitely, for although the hour was informal, Amanda did not pass out tea promiscuously.
Woe be to the climber who penetrated her hedge!

Through contented eyes she looked about her. Of all her possessions — they were many and valued — she placed the highest value upon the boxwood hedge. It was a concrete symbol of all that had gone to make up the 70 amazing years of her life.

She had not been born within its aristocratic confines. A Goodloe had married her, and her substantial bonds, after the loss of a beloved young wife and when the sheriff's hammer threatened the box, Amanda had saved it then from greedy creditors. Many times since, she had saved it from the spendthrift Goodloes themselves.

Spicily fragrant, greenly remote,
it guarded her from an intrusive world, while it proclaimed, more blatantly than a radio loud speaker, the difference between those within and those without its sacred boundary. In proportion to the sacrifices she had made for it, Amanda loved the boxwood. Intensely, jealously, proudly she loved it. In the innermost depths of her soul she venerated it.

The first Goodloe, who had come over with Calvert and his cavaliers, had brought with him hundreds of tiny green shoots embedded in the beloved soil of old England. It blended so well with the new strange earth that the box took root at once and started bravely to outline "Goodloe's Choice" in my Lord Baltimore's domain.

He builded well. On this sixth of May, in the year of Our Lord, Nineteen hundred and thirty-five,
the great house, an impressive monument to his perseverance, stood overlooking the landscape of his dreams and Amanda waited to see young Judith Goodloe put her hunter over the boxwood—six feet high and broad in proportion—at the very spot where her ancestor had whimsically jumped the spindly four inch shoots nearly three centuries earlier.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

KEEPING THE BODY STRONG
Text: Mark 6:53-56; Judges 13:12-14; Corinthians 3:16, 17; Romans 12:1, 2.

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
Editor of Advance

Perhaps one of the most characteristic aspects of our age is concerned with the body and with good health and physical well-being. All sorts of cults and "movements" have arisen in this realm of physical culture and the care of the body.

Yet strange to say, there probably never was a time in the life of humanity when there was so much disregard of physical welfare and security, and so widespread indulgence in ways of living and habits that are destructive of the ideal of "a sound mind and a sound body." On the one hand, we see the world's immense concern with war and violence and implements of destruction, a building-up of the bodies of men in fine physique with the idea that their strength may be used in violent ways, either for defense or aggression. On the other hand, we see aspects of loose living and indulgence that tend toward the weakening of the body, toward the breakdown of good health, both individual and social, and toward a moral corruption that inevitably in time has its physical effects.

Where men and women have lived healthy lives with useful toil, plenty of fresh air, proper hours of rest, without vicious or questionable habits, and with plenty of good wholesome food, there has not been much need to concern themselves with the body or to think a great deal about it. It is to this area of good and wholesome living that the Bible constantly introduces us, and we have in our lesson, passages from Scripture from four sources that emphasize the personal aspect of temperance in keeping the body strong.

Perhaps we ought to reverse the order of these passages and take first of all that from the Book of Judges. Early in the life of Israel, it became apparent that the good health, both of the individual and of the people as a whole, depended upon keeping the life of Israel free from contamination with the vicious practices of surrounding peoples and free also from the corrupt and debasing influences from things in their own life. The danger that inhered in strong drink became quickly apparent, and the Bible in all its pages, both from the early and later life of Israel, is insistent upon the evil that lurks in intoxication.

Jesus laid stress on good health. The record of the miracles of healing symbolizes His whole attitude toward life. He came to restore the souls and bodies of men, as He came to teach them right principles and to establish life in ways of good conduct. There is a great deal of true religion in what we might call "wholesome living." This means that one is not going to do or indulge in things that are to his own hurt or to the hurt of his neighbor.

The passages from Corinthians and from Romans only enforce very strongly this general conception. If a man has a sense of the sacredness of his own life and a realization that his body, as it is the temple of his soul, may also be the temple of the living God, he cannot lightly or knowingly indulge in habits or follow ways of life that are against the welfare of either body or soul.

D. A. R. Receives More Letters From North-west "Pioneers"

December 23, 1937. As we cheerily trod the twelve miles from Hamburg, N. J. to Newton, we were impressed by the seemingly endless stretches of rolling country all fenced in and occupied by dairy cattle. We soon realized that we were in the very heart of the milk supply district for New York City.

Because of our stiff morning pace, we had to wait at noon on the outskirts of Newton to avoid being ahead of the scheduled parade and reception. This delay proved to be a blessing for a pair of syndicate photographers who had a field day as they clicked the group from all angles.

About one mile from the center of Newton, we were greeted by uniformed American Legionnaires and the Newton high school band who jauntily led us and hundreds of pedestrians and automobiles in and around their city.

After an appetizing supper, we put on our pageant to an overflow crowd in the high school. And so back to our hotel and to bed early in preparation for our 24-mile hike to Belvidere tomorrow.

December 31, 1937. We left the old Dutch town of Maunzie which means in Indian, "bear swamp" and a showing of Dutch hospitality. We followed a new three-lane highway which was in contrast to farm houses of Dutch and German influence. The outstanding thing about the homes was in the different wrought iron fences, here a pear, a bunch of grapes, or an ear of corn were cast in design. Some were in color. The barns had a painted decoration on every side. One yard was brightened by a clever crocking and glass windmill. These quaint, clean houses of the Teutons lay in a broad fertile valley and far in the distance lay high hills crowned and striped with snow and dotted with trees and rocks. Here was a simple life, yet sweet.

On this same road the pioneers of 150 years ago had to abandon their wagon and make a sled in order to cross the mountains.

We got into Burnt Cabins, Pa., at 6:30 and presented the pageant in a small church. A tired bunch of boys are rolling into bed tonight doubtless to dream of the events of this first day of mountain travel.

January 19, 1938. Forward to another town where the meals were for men and where we would

Moving on, one of the boys who had never ridden before, tried his hand at it, but met with dull defeat on the pavement.

Later I saw a fine collection of old rifles, ball and cap, and several flint lock pistols. We were met at the edge of Kutztown by a radio truck which was in sharp contrast to our fur and buckskins.

This year has seen our start for the Ohio country, reenacting the drama of the ordinary men who, like ourselves, chose to face obstacles unknown.

Through all our relationship there is something fine, something real, something swell. May we continue in friendship and spirit in the new year, Happy New Year!

January 11, 1938. We woke up this morning to see a blanket of snow covering Upper Sasburg, and everyone was anxious to get started on the climb over the Kitzthun mountains and also the Tuscaroras.

The mountains were steeper than we expected. We had to hook a 60 foot rope to the tongue of the wagon with cross pieces tied every few feet so that the men could help the oxen pull the wagon up the grade. The horsemen went ahead of the wagon, and had a roaring fire awaiting us when we reached the summit. We roasted apples and rested there for about one half hour. Then we started down the other side of the mountains. We had to reverse the process of helping the oxen. We chopped down a tree and tied it to the back of the wagon; several men rode on the tree to help brake the wagon on the downhill slope.

On this same road the pioneers of 150 years ago had to abandon their wagon and make a sled in order to cross the mountains.

We got into Burnt Cabins, Pa., at 6:30 and presented the pageant in a small church. A tired bunch of boys are rolling into bed tonight doubtless to dream of the events of this first day of mountain travel.

January 19, 1938. Forward to another town where the meals were for men and where we would enjoy going again. Real, hearty food was enjoyed at Jones Mills from which we departed this cheerful morning.

Five active and imaginative minds wandered perhaps longingly back to old New England today as these pioneers, wending their way slowly and unerringly toward the edge of the first leg of the trip, passed over characteristic eastern terrain.

Rolling wave-like, white tree-flecked hills outlined in odd, uneven patterns by split rail fences, stone walls, winding trails and small, quaint farm houses intermingled to join a replica of New England.

Excitement reigned supreme today as a very interesting Indian attack was staged by Troop 6, Mt. Pleasant, Boy Scout troop. While scouting ahead for Indians, I was surprised by a small band and in pretense was very ceremoniously relaxed their vigilance I chanced to escape and warned the rest of the caravan but too late. With whoops and screams, another party I was unaware of swooped down and with many imaginary casualties on their side cut down many of the party before they were aware that we were friendly Americans and not the despised French soldiers. They made peace and asked our forgiveness, and accompanied by a band, escorted us into the city. We camp at the armory tonight.

HANDLING OF DRINKS IS AN OLD PROBLEM

Los Angeles.—(AP)—Modern perplexity over what to do with alcoholics has its parallel in ancient times, says Dr. Arthur Patch McKinlay, professor of Latin at the University of California at Los Angeles. Some laws treated a drunken offender more leniently than a sober one, some more severely, his studies showed.

In the Greek town of Locri, in southern Italy, the code of Zaleucus allowed a lady one attendant, but she was entitled to two if she were drunk.
